

MY JANE EYRE REVIEW

by Sandy Theodoropoulou

The Plot

- In 1829, nine year-old orphan Jane Eyre is sent by her aunt Mrs. Reed to Low Wood Institution, a charity school directed by the cruel Mr. Henry Brocklehurst. Jane is admitted to the boarding school, where she experiences a harsh childhood and loses her best friend Helen.
- After ten years, she is hired by the master of Thornfield Edward Rochester as the governess of his daughter, Adele Varens, and leaves Low Wood. Jane moves to the manor and soon she feels an unrequited love for her master. Despite their different social classes, they become friends, but when Mr. Rochester throws Blanche Ingram a party and invites her to stay in Thornfield Hall, Jane decides to find another job.

MY REVIEW

- I loved this amazing performance because it was full of energy! Also, one of the most amazing parts was when they put on real fire on the stage which I was fascinated by. In addition to that, I would like to say that it was fantastic how they played the whole performance in only one background. Last but not least, I believe that Jane Eyre was one of the most amazing performances I have ever seen!

PICTURES OF THE PERFORMANCE

- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7oTecp7Q7nE>

The End,