

Dear diary,

Today was my first day at my new school. When I entered the classroom, all the children looked at me weirdly. I felt awkward when they started to ignore me. Also nobody came to say hello, not even Jess. They were all laughing at me because of the clothes I was wearing. During the break I went to see what the boys were playing. I started running with them and I felt better. But even after that Jess still wasn't talking to me. That was my day!

Leslie