

INTERVIEWING JO NESBO

On Friday 18th September 2015, along with five other Primary 6 students from I.M.Panagiotopoulos School, I was selected to interview the famous Norwegian author, Jo Nesbo, who would appear at the Athens Concert Hall. Initially, I was really nervous, because I considered it a great honour, a lifetime experience to address such a successful and important author, and I was afraid of getting confused or making a mistake. When I raised my hand and was allowed to speak, I started talking with some embarrassment, but also with determination. I asked him if he thinks that bullying can be stopped through books and he replied that literature is not enough and that bullying is a phenomenon which only man himself can stop. Finally, I feel really lucky to have had the opportunity to take part in such an important event.

Alexandros Kantzavelos, Primary 6.1