

The Guinness World Records logo is displayed in a large, stylized font. The words "GUINNESS", "WORLD", and "RECORDS" are stacked vertically. The letter "O" in "WORLD" is replaced by the Guinness World Records seal, which features a star and the text "GUINNESS WORLD RECORDS". GUINNESS WORLD RECORDS

AN INCREDIBLE FEAT BY HARRIS KALABOGIAS

AN INCREDIBLE FEAT BY DAN MAGNESS

- The longest marathon controlling a football is twenty-six hours and was achieved by Dan Magness during an event organized by Muse Production Limited at Olympian City, Hong Kong, from the 10th to the 11th of June, 2010.

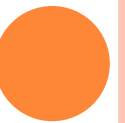

- One of the reasons I chose this feat is that I love football.

I play football almost every day. But the main reason I chose this feat is that I find it amazing; I mean twenty-six hours is an incredible record. You must have excellent physical condition, you must have very strong legs, really strong legs.

Anyway, there are not many people like him. I mean I don't know if Lionel Messi or Cristiano Ronaldo could do something better.

- Although there are a lot of incredible feats in the whole world, I chose this one because I found it special. I hope you liked the presentation so..... let's see if there is anyone else out there who can beat this record.

THE END
