

AN INCREDIBLE FEAT

Alain Robert is a rock climber from France. Known as "the French Spider-Man" or "the Human Spider," Robert is famous for his free solo climbing, scaling skyscrapers using no climbing equipment except a pair of climbing shoes.

His climbing feats include scaling the Empire State Building, the Golden Gate bridge and the Sydney Opera House.

Robert has fallen in his life many times; the worst was on the 29th of September 1982 when he was 20 years old. He was in a coma for five days and he broke both arms, his elbow, pelvis and nose. In March 2011, at the age of 48, Alain Robert scaled the 828m Burj Khalifa in Dubai, the tallest building in the world.

