

John Warner School MUN
February 2017

A few months ago, I travelled to London to participate in John Warner School Model United Nations. When the MUN started I was really nervous, but when I met the other delegates in my committee, I relaxed; they were all extremely friendly and supportive. Moreover, they were interested in learning about my school and our delegation's MUN background. They were highly impressed when I told them that the previous year we had all been to Istanbul to take part in an MUN conference. At the end of the day I was so excited because we were chosen as a 'highly commended' delegation. I'd love to participate next year, too. This MUN has been one of the best experiences in my life and I will never forget it.

On 1st February, I attended JWSMUN. It was held in John Warner School. MUN is an event that teaches us how UN work.

When I arrived there with my classmates, we entered a big theatre and we sat at a table that had the flag of the country that we were representing, United Arab Emirates. Then, we started searching for delegates of the same committee so they could sign our resolutions. After lobbying, we had a break when we drank hot chocolate and we ate biscuits. A couple of minutes later, we went to our committee's room where we debated for some hours. Later, we debated on the last resolutions. One of them was mine and I am so proud that it was voted and passed!! Finally, we went back to the main hall and we voted for some of the best resolutions.

My comments for the conference are that firstly, the organization was really good. Unfortunately, the age of the students was a small problem. The space was really useful too because the theatre was immense. We also challenged ourselves because we were not native speakers and we are so proud of that.

My John Warner MUN Conference

It was my second MUN Conference and I was very happy for that. At first, I thought that it would be easy but when I arrived at the school, I find out how difficult it was to debate with native speakers. Sadly, I spoke only once because I was afraid. Another bad thing is that the conference was only one day. I wish it lasted longer. At the end of the conference, it was the awards announcements and suddenly we heard the name of our country, United Arab Emirates, in the awards of the best delegations .This was the best part of the day.
