

The Greek educational system is supervised by the Ministry of National Education and Religious Affairs. Our education includes pre-school, primary and lower secondary education and it is compulsory for all children 6 to 15 years old. Primary Education lasts 6 years, low-secondary education (Gymnasio) lasts 3 years and upper secondary education lasts another 3 years. Higher Education is divided into Universities and Technological Educational Institutions. Students' performance is evaluated in national level examinations that take place at the end of the year of upper secondary education.
