

I've been doing Forensics for one year now and I can say for sure that it's an unforgettable experience! My first competition was 4 months ago! I was so excited but afraid at the same time, because I was about to address a big audience. However, I was really helped by my teammate, Nefeli, who showed me the process of the competition, and gave me some tips in order to avoid some silly mistakes.

A Forensics competition consists of several events. My favorite is Debate! Why? Because we learn new things that have to do with the environment and other current affairs. Also, we learn how to express our thoughts in an organized way. Finally, we learn how to defend ourselves in the real debates of life, and we also learn how to see both sides of a problem, find a fair solution and be just. To sum up, I advise you all to give it a try and join in the Forensics team!
