

From the moment that I walked in the Forensics class, I felt that I would learn lots of new things. I enjoy debating, which is why I started participating in Debate tournaments.

My favourite tournament was the ICYD, at Champion School, in which I gained lots of experience and because it was the second competition I participated in, I had better progress. My teammate and I were in the second place, at two rounds and in the fourth place at one round. I was excited with the results.

Even though we didn't go to the final, I feel that every time I participate, I become even better.

Debate, in my opinion, is the best way to improve your speaking skills, to become confident and learn information about current affairs. For example, through the videos that you see before a debate, you develop an ability to support your ideas for a topic.

These were the reasons why I enjoy debating and my experience at the Champion School tournament.

John Bartsotas