

PETER PAN

Do you want to grow up, or would you like to be a child forever?

I personally want to stay a child forever because I think that being a child is a wonderful thing! As a child you can do much more things than as an adult. You can play, you can go to school and find new friends (and not run to work because you're afraid that you'll be late), you can watch things on the TV that you like (and not only news), you have free time to do many fun activities or meet with your friends to play...but the most important thing that a child can do and an adult cannot, is live a less stressful life. Children are also more creative than adults and also can imagine things that are unbelievable to think about, and not things that they can actually do and that are easy to come true. I also think that because children have more happy feelings, they live a happier and more enjoyable life.
