

I personally think that it would be fun to never grow up. But I'd prefer to grow up because I'll get to do things that I can't even imagine at my age. I'll get the chance to live my life. Another thing is that some or maybe all of my friends will grow up and I'd be alone for some time. I think that everyone should fully live every single moment of their life, from the day they are born to the day they die.
