

One country I would like to visit in the future is the United States of America. It is a very big country with many popular and interesting cities and nice landscapes. It has a lot of population from all over the world.

Some of the sights I would prefer to visit are the "Statue of Liberty", which is the most popular statue in the world in New York, as well as the "Grand National Park" where you can see lakes, rivers, mountains and hundreds of species of birds, fish, and reptiles. Also, the "Walt Disney Resort" with the most frightening and funny games and the "Empire State Building". There are a lot of museums to see and activities you can do.

Another reason for which I would like to go there is to meet people who speak English and practise the language and learn how people live there. I hope one day I will travel to this beautiful country!
